How it Works

- A couple of weeks before each major starts, we will randomly draw the pool entrants' names for the draft order.
- Starting immediately, the selection process will begin on <http://majorspool.azurewebsites.net/> where each entrant, one at a time, can pick a golfer from the list of remaining golfers (once a golfer has been chosen, no one else can pick him).
- Entrants will have up to 12 hours to make their pick, but please try not to take that long.
- If an entrant still hasn't made a pick after their 12 hours are up, the next person in line will become eligible to make their pick as well. At that point, only the two of you will be eligible to pick on a first come first served basis.
- In order to prevent a tie in the PGA Championship, the last person in the draft order will receive "the field" (all of the remaining unpicked golfers).

Payouts Details

1st place: $200

2nd place: $60

3rd place: $20

In the following scenarios, it will be assumed that someone has Tiger, Phil, Rory, and Bubba. And it will be assumed that no one has Eugene or Neuman.

Scenario 1

1. Tiger
- T2. Phil / Rory
4. Bubba

Result: Whoever has Tiger wins $200. Whoever had Phil and Rory each get $40 $((60+20) / 2)$.

Scenario 2
